

EducationUSA Canada Spotlights

Michigan State University

In East Lansing, Michigan

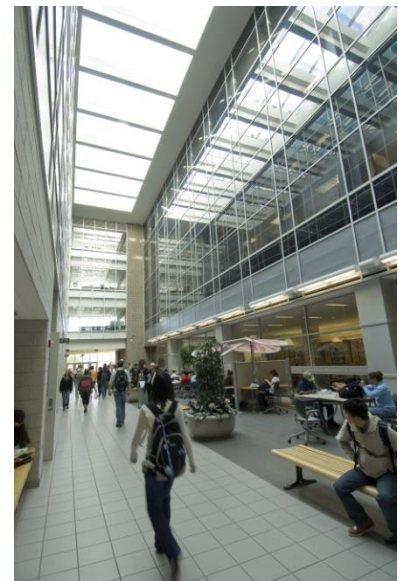

Founded in 1855, Michigan State University (MSU) is one of the top 150 research universities in the world and has been listed in various national publications as one of the top universities in the United States for numerous programs, including business, accounting, hospitality business, international relations, packaging, education, advertising, journalism, economics, communication, and criminal justice.

Michigan State's 5,200 acre campus is located in East Lansing, Michigan, a safe and secure suburb of Lansing – the capital city of Michigan. East Lansing has been voted as one of the “friendliest cities” in the US and is located about 4.5 hours from Toronto, Ontario.

MSU has an enrollment of more than 38,000 undergraduate students. MSU is home to nearly 8,000 international students, including 172 Canadians. A national leader in study abroad, MSU is one of the only universities ranked in the top 10 for both international student enrollment and study abroad participation. MSU offers more than 200 programs of study, as well as a law school and three medical schools.

Limited, merit-based scholarships are available for international students. Top performing Canadian students who join the Honors College by invitation as incoming freshman can receive a four-year scholarship of $15,000 per year.

Undergraduate students are given opportunities to do research with faculty mentors and the Honors College at MSU, one of the oldest and most prestigious such colleges in the nation. MSU is one of only 62 members of the exclusive Association of American Universities, an association of leading research universities in the US and Canada.

MSU is also a member of the Big Ten Conference, arguably the nation's premier academic and athletic conference, and offers 25 Division I intercollegiate teams, and club and intramural sports. MSU Spartans brought home 6 Big Ten Conference Championships in 2013-2014.

For more information, or to apply, visit www.beaspartan.com