

Your journey to attend college in the United States begins before you even set sail. Elizabethtown College is here to guide you along your way.

BEFORE YOU ARRIVE:

LAUREN DEIBLER
Coordinator of International Recruitment

You bring the world to us. I love the unique perspectives international students bring to Elizabethtown College.

In my years of working with students hailing from all over the globe, I've been able to see Elizabethtown College through the eyes of international students. I've learned that our international students find Elizabethtown College to be a comfortable place, with lots of one-on-one attention—a place where they have gained confidence in the English language.

I'm here to help guide you through the admissions process, from answering your questions about classes, campus and scholarships, to helping you complete your application. We have a whole enrollment team dedicated to working with students just like you. As you work your way through the application process, you'll hear from me and other admissions staff members, including Amy Benowitz, our international recruiting assistant.

ONCE YOU ARE HERE:

KRISTI SYRDAHL
Director of International
Student Services

International education: that's what I'm passionate about. I studied abroad seven times, starting in high school straight through graduate school. In my day-to-day work at Elizabethtown College, it's like I'm still traveling!

One thing that is universal, no matter where a student comes from, is the surprise at how student-centered our campus is. In the United States, the approach is that learning happens everywhere—not just in a lecture hall. This kind of robust support outside of the classroom and the shared living spaces simply doesn't exist in other countries. It's a joy to watch our international students adjust to life on campus and find their friends.

That's where my role comes in. The Office of International Student Services serves students just like you with anything and everything you need—from official paperwork to social activities.

I can't wait to meet you.
