Northwestern University Summer Program

in Evanston, Illinois

Experience college life at Northwestern University this summer in the College Prep Program. High school sophomores and juniors can take undergraduate courses for college credit, or enroll in a two-week IN FOCUS seminar in a special topic area.

One of the best ways to prepare for college is to get a taste of college life and academics. Take this opportunity to explore different subjects or get a head start on the major of your dreams. The College Prep Program offers undergraduate courses for college credit taught by Northwestern faculty and instructors who assume the same level of commitment and involvement from you that they do from college students. The expectations are high, the rewards are long-lasting.

Courses are flexibly scheduled, ranging from three-week intensive courses in the sciences or languages, and four to eight weeks for most other offerings. You may also elect to enroll in three-week intensive science or language courses. Also, students may be able to enroll in upper-level courses, subject to prerequisites and permission.

As a College Prep student in the credit study option, you will take undergraduate courses with students from Northwestern and other universities. The course credit you earn can be transferred to undergraduate programs at many other universities. Your grades will be available on an official Northwestern transcript, a strong beginning to your academic career.

IN FOCUS Seminars are designed to expose students to top Northwestern faculty highlighting themes relevant today. They do not have the time commitment or cost of a college credit course. These two-week noncredit seminars are structured like a college seminar course. Faculty will lead the seminar through discussion, readings and study, enabling a rich learning experience. Only College Prep students are able to enroll in the seminars, which will appear on your official Northwestern University transcript upon successful completion.

Northwestern University Summer Session, in partnership with the US Department of State's EducationUSA network, is pleased to offer a three-week EducationUSA Academy for international high school students. This unique academic program will provide instruction in English, college preparatory content, tours of diverse college and university campuses, and cross-cultural activities for 15- to 17-year-old students from around the world. Through the EducationUSA Academy, international students can improve their English competency and become more familiar with the US higher education system, academic culture, campus life, and application processes for admission to US colleges and universities. Students will have the opportunity to apply their learning at one of the US's premier universities and engage in the rich culture of one of its most exciting cities: Chicago. Potential applicants should apply through the EducationUSA Academy link on the College Preparation Program website.
